Glass Act Becomes A Shore Thing For HGTV And Sea Sand Designs Artist Tracy Perry

St Thomas, US Virgin Islands, 2009- Artist Tracy Perry knows how to improve upon Mother Nature with her popular custom sand signs, each handmade on the shores of St. Thomas. Sea Sand Designs (www.seasanddesigns.com) creates one-of-a-kind whimsical tropical sea art created out of sand, colored sea glass and shells chosen by the artist. Sea Sand Designs boasts a product line for pets, home decor, holidays and children- while launching two new lines of Caribbean island beach décor and tropical wedding gifts. Sea Sand Designs specializes in signs for resorts, vacation homes, or for a little whimsy color poolside, on the boat or deck, porch, wine bar or, to playfully adorn a pet's quarters, office or a child's space. The company has become nationally known and its custom designs are sold in more than 22 locations throughout the islands, and will be a feature, along with the Perry's home, on the HGTV show "My House Is Worth What?" in spring of 2010. "I love looking at my HGTV plaque created by Sea Sand Designs and remembering my wonderful time in the Islands!" says Lauren Anderson, HGTV producer at Pie Town Productions.

Growing up in San Diego, CA, the coast has always been a significant part of Perry's life. Living in an area known for great surf and sand, it was a welcome opportunity when given the chance to move to the Caribbean with her husband Dennis. Once settled, the Perry's decided to honor the Caribbean tradition of giving their home a name, so "Perry's Island Dream," became the inspiration to create a sign for the front entrance. Using elements from the beach, Perry found herself with numerous requests for more custom creations. Little did she know she was "testing the waters," and before long the idea of Sea Sand Designs was formed.

Sea Sand Designs offers a list of over 60 clever phrases and suggestions for any piece, or clients can come up with one of their own. "I gain inspiration from the customer by allowing them to choose words that resonate within them. I then capture that vision through art creating a custom piece, unique to each person.," says founder Tracy Perry.
